

1 (The proceedings were convened in chambers
2 as follows:)

3 THE COURT: If you would put your 4 appearances on the record.

5 MR. HUNSINGER: Art Hunsinger, the pool
6 coordinator. I just wanted, A, are we allowed 7 to take it live?

8 THE COURT: No. It is video for future.
9 Go ahead.

10 MR. HUNSINGER: And am I allowed to 11 release the tapes immediately after the 12 sentencing is done or do I need your approval, 13 as we did in Goshen?

14 THE COURT: I would appreciate it if you 15 give me the right to say okay, only because if 16 you remind Patty about the time when there was 17 a foul-up and I had to confiscate the one at 18 the time. Obviously, there is no situation
19 like that going on now, and so I don't 20 anticipate anything like that happening.

21 So I just need you to say "come up?" and I 22 will just say "yes" and that's it, okay? As 23 soon as we conclude that part of the 24 proceeding.

1 MR. HUNSINGER: Okay.

2 THE COURT: Now, we are using one camera;
3 am I correct?

4 MR. OLKO: Yes.

5 THE COURT: And so that's fine. I am not 6 going to limit you on what you do. It is up to 7 you. I know you are going to use your 8 discretion.

9 Now, photography, Mr. Kamrass. Put it on 10 the record.

11 MR. KAMRASS: Philip Kamrass, with the 12 Albany Times Union and a staff photographer.

13 THE COURT: Formerly Middletown, New York.
14 I don't think I have any type of problem,
15 unless Mrs. Porco doesn't want her photo taken,
16 and she has never said no to that. I will ask 17 them right now. I will ask both sides on that.

18 (A pause was taken in the proceedings.)

19 THE COURT: I will let you know. I can 20 trust Phil to the end of the world. If I say 21 no, then no. And it applies to you also, all 22 right?

23 MR. OLKO: Okay.

24 THE COURT: If they don't want it. I

1 think Miss Szostak probably won't have any 2 objection, but I don't know. What do you need, 3 Terry?

4 MR. KINDLON: Nothing. I am trying --

5 THE COURT: Figuring out how to get out of 6 here.

7 (There was a discussion off the record.)

8 THE COURT: Just let the record reflect, 9 because we didn't write it in the decision as 10 to the release of the interview by the police 11 with Christopher Porco. But as to the 12 application for cameras in the courtroom, it is 13 on the record in Orange County with Kathleen 14 Jackson. However, I will put it on the record
15 here for us to have. And that is that there
16 was no objection by the People or the defendant 17 to cameras, to audiovisual, as well as still 18 photography coverage of this matter.

19 As such, the Court granted the same, with 20 limitations that have been set forth by the 21 Court as to the individuals that will be 22 speaking outside of the court, the District 23 Attorneys and the defendant's attorneys and the 24 defendant. Those people, obviously, you can

1 photograph. And we are going to find out.

2 Miss Szostak?

3 MR. ROSSI: She has no objection to being 4 filmed.

5 THE COURT: Fine. So that's a go for her.
6 As soon as I hear from either Mr. Kindlon or 7 from Miss Shanks, then I will let you know
8 about Mrs. Porco. All right?

9 MR. HUNSINGER: Yes.

10 THE COURT: That will be so ordered. You 11 have permission. Obviously, if I think that 12 there is an intrusion that's going to affect 13 something, I will give you the stop and then 14 you must stop, all right? Fair enough.

15 MR. HUNSINGER: And I will come to you
16 immediately following the sentencing.

17 THE COURT: And I will give you the okay.

18 MR. HUNSINGER: Thank you, Judge.

19 THE COURT: Good luck to you guys.

20 MR. OLKO: Thank you.

21 (A recess was taken in the proceedings.)

22 (The proceedings were reconvened in open 23 court as follows:)

24 THE COURT: Good afternoon. Please be

1 seated, everyone. The defendant, please. Is 2 it your request that the defendant's handcuffs 3 be removed?

4 MR. KINDLON: It is, your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Any objection by the People?

6 MR. McDERMOTT: No, your Honor.

7 THE COURT: And I take it securitywise you 8 can do that?

9 THE SHERIFF: Yes, your Honor.

10 THE COURT: All right. Can everyone hear
11 me all right? I don't know if the microphone
12 is on or not. As long as you can hear me, I 13 won't resort to one.

14 We are here today with regard to the 15 sentencing proceeding on Christopher Porco.
16 Mr. Porco is here with his attorneys,
17 Mr. Terence Kindlon and Miss Laurie Shanks.

18 Mr. McDermott?

19 MR. McDERMOTT: Yes, your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Do the People move this matter
21 for sentence?

22 MR. McDERMOTT: Yes, your Honor, we do.

23 THE COURT: Mr. Kindlon?

24 MR. KINDLON: We do not oppose that

1 motion.

2 THE COURT: And is there any legal reason 3 why sentence cannot be pronounced upon your 4 client at this time?

5 MR. KINDLON: There is none.

6 THE COURT: Mr. McDermott?

7 MR. McDERMOTT: Yes. Your Honor, prior to 8 the Court hearing from the People with respect
9 to sentencing, I would ask that this Court 10 entertain statements from three victims in this 11 case. From Miss Patricia Szostak, the sister 12 of Peter Porco, who is present in court to 13 address the Court. A letter written by Peter 14 Porco's mother, Jane Porco Whalen. She has 15 asked that I read it to the Court. And, 16 finally, Mrs. Joan Porco is present in the 17 court and wishes to address the Court with 18 respect to sentencing.

19 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Kindlon?

20 MR. KINDLON: No objection at this time, 21 sir.

22 THE COURT: All right. Fine. And at this 23 time, Mr. McDermott, I believe Miss Szostak is 24 going to be the first person to address the

1 Court?

2 MR. McDERMOTT: Yes, your Honor.

3 THE COURT: She may.

4 MS. SZOSTAK: Sit there?

5 THE COURT: That would be fine, or you can 6 stay next to Mr. McDermott, as long as 7 everybody can hear what you have to say. Good 8 afternoon to you.

9 MS. SZOSTAK: Good afternoon, your Honor.
10 Thank you.

11 On November 15, 2004, the murder of my 12 brother, Peter, and the attempted murder of my 13 sister-in-law, Joan, left our family decimated.
14 Where we had once been a happy group of 12 15 gathered for holidays and summer vacations for 16 the last two decades, we are now a small band 17 of survivors of murder and our time together is 18 overshadowed by our unspeakable grief. Our 19 loss is massive, and the circumstances of that 20 loss are impossible to fathom.

21 Peter was in my life for nearly 50 years.
22 He was older by two years, so we were together
23 from the day I was born, sharing the same 24 family history and forming that bond that is

(David Mayo, Official Court Reporter)

1 unique to siblings. At different times he was 2 my confidant, my mentor, my protector, my 3 supporter, and my most trusted friend. Our 4 love for one another was absolutely
5 unconditional. Although it crossed my mind
6 that I might outlive my brother, it never 7 entered my thinking that he would be ripped 8 away from me at midlife and in such a horrific 9 manner. I am so angry that my future with my 10 brother has been taken away, and especially 11 that after giving years of his life for others 12 he did not get to live out his own dreams and 13 potential.

14 It is hard for me to accept that Peter is 15 gone forever. His absence from my life is 16 staggering. I will never again hear his 17 cheerful voice on the phone or exchange silly
18 e-mails with him. We will never go on a trip 19 together again, or meet for dinner, or 20 celebrate a holiday or milestone together. I 21 will never again be able to confide in him or 22 seek his counsel or count on his support in 23 times of need. We have been robbed of the 24 chance to grow older together. That was a lot

(David Mayo, Official Court Reporter)

1 to lose, and it has been very hard.

2 But what is worse is living with how he 3 died. I have been horrified to learn, through 4 the course of the investigation, that Peter's 5 last days were spent in anguish as he 6 discovered the magnitude of the betrayal that 7 was taking place. That is bad enough. But 8 what is hardest of all is imagining his terror
9 at being awakened in the night in his own bed 10 to the repeated crushing blows of an axe and 11 most likely to the agonized screams of his 12 wife.

13 I never stop wondering what was happening
14 to Peter as he lay in that blood-soaked bed 15 with his brutally injured wife beside him. And 16 when he got up out of that bed and pulled on 17 his clothes and made his way downstairs, 18 stumbling all the way in his own blood -- what 19 do any of us know of his suffering? Was he 20 conscious part of the time? Did he think his 21 assailant was still in the house? Did he know 22 who it was? Was he trying to call for help?
23 Did he know he was dying? These questions
24 haunt me. I carry in my mind the image of him

(David Mayo, Official Court Reporter)

1 battered and bloody at the bottom of the 2 stairs -- terrified, confused, in horrible pain 3 and, worst of all, alone. A man so loved and 4 so good should not have had to die frightened 5 and alone.

6 I have also lost my sister-in-law, Joan, 7 as a result of this tragedy. She survived the 8 physical trauma, but the emotional injuries
9 have wrenched her from me, maybe forever. Just 10 as I agonize over what befell my brother that 11 night, I ache for her terror and unimaginable 12 losses.

13 On November 15, 2004, my sis of 30 years, 14 a woman who brought so much good into our 15 lives, was savagely snatched away; her body, 16 her life, and her psyche so deeply scarred.
17 The loving, caring, and considerate woman I
18 knew has been so traumatized by this brutal 19 attack she was not able to allow me, my mother, 20 or my younger brother to be present at the 21 internment of Peter's ashes. We didn't get to 22 say goodbye the way we needed to. We have to 23 live with that, too.

24 I know I'm not alone when I say this. I

(David Mayo, Official Court Reporter)

1 will never be the same. Not a day goes by that 2 I do not experience the impact of this crime.
3 I have witnessed my mother's suffering over the 4 unthinkable murder of her firstborn child and 5 watched her become more fragile with each
6 passing month. It has affected my own health, 7 my marriage, and my work. Shock, sadness,
8 anger, and fear have overwhelmed me for two 9 years. I suffer from anxiety, depression, and 10 nightmares. I often feel emotionally
11 flatlined.

12 And I constantly numb myself to this 13 thought: Peter may have tried to call for help 14 that morning. That's exactly what he would 15 have done. And if he was able and aware enough 16 to put on his clothes, make his way downstairs, 17 and attempt to stop his bleeding with tissues 18 and paper towels, I believe he had the 19 awareness at some point to try to call 911.
20 And if he had been able to reach 911, he would 21 be here today, instead of me. But the phone 22 line had been cut and my brother bled to death.

23 This crime was not merely an act of 24 violence, nor was it a crime of passion. It

(David Mayo, Official Court Reporter)

1 was done with forethought and was the coldest,
2 most barbaric act one human being can 3 perpetrate against another. It was committed 4 without conscience and so defies human 5 understanding that our society cannot impose a 6 punishment equal to it, because to do so would 7 force us to violate the boundaries of normal
8 human conduct and decency. Thank you.

9 THE COURT: Thank you. Mr. McDermott?

10 MR. McDERMOTT: Your Honor, Peter Porco's
11 mother, Jane Porco Whalen, was unable to be 12 here today because of health reasons but she 13 addresses the following letter to this Court:

14 "Dear Judge Berry: I would like to 15 express to you how much our family tragedy has 16 impacted my life. I'm not sure that words can 17 describe how devastated I am, emotionally and 18 physically.

19 "I depended on Peter for his always good 20 advice, loving understanding, and wonderful 21 hugs. I am very proud of his achievements but 22 am most proud of the man he had grown to be.
23 We have all lost his great potential.

24 "I get through each day with the help of

1 my wonderful husband, my children, my extended
2 family, and friends, and especially my faith.
3 Surely, Peter is with our Lord.

4 "I believe that through the hard work of 5 our police and the DA's Office justice has 6 prevailed. I no longer live in fear that my 7 family will come to more harm. I do not fully 8 understand what happened to my grandson, and I 9 hope and I pray that he can be cured, but 10 unless that happens he must not be allowed to 11 kill again. Sincerely, Jane Porco Whalen."

12 THE COURT: Thank you, sir. I believe
13 that Joan Porco wished to address the Court, 14 also?

15 MR. McDERMOTT: Yes, your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Mrs. Porco.

17 MRS. PORCO: Good afternoon, Judge.

18 THE COURT: Good afternoon, Mrs. Porco.

19 MRS. PORCO: I am respectfully requesting 20 a lenient sentence for my son Christopher. I 21 was astounded when the jury handed down a 22 verdict of guilty to the murder of his father, 23 Peter, and the attack on me. I cannot 24 understand this. With every ounce of my being

1 I cannot accept that Christopher could have or 2 would have chosen to butcher us in any 3 conceivable way, for any conceivable reason.

4 Christopher is the product of a loving and 5 supportive family. Since his very early days 6 he has demonstrated a gentle, kind, and 7 generous spirit. He has contributed his time 8 and talent in many and varied relationships in 9 his life.

10 I wish to quote from a letter that Peter
11 and I wrote to Christopher during his senior 12 year of high school. And I quote, "We are 13 confident that you have acquired all of the 14 basic knowledge and skills you will need for a 15 fulfilling life ahead. Your emotional 16 maturity, perceptiveness, great sense of humor, 17 optimism, studying, and problem-solving
18 abilities are all qualities that will serve you 19 well in the years ahead. We also know that 20 your moral compass is fixed on the right 21 course." These are Peter's and my words to our 22 son Christopher.

23 I know that Christopher has made some 24 unfortunate decisions in his life, but Jesus

(David Mayo, Official Court Reporter)

1 Christ said that the man without sin should 2 throw the first stone. Christopher has spoken 3 and shown his remorse for his indiscretions.
4 In spite of these indiscretions, I know my son, 5 and he could not have committed these very 6 violent acts. And I wish the Court to continue 7 to find the person or people who did this to 8 us.

9 Again, at this time, your Honor, my 10 heartfelt request is for a lenient sentence for 11 Christopher. I understand that the law
12 requires you to impose a lengthy prison 13 sentence. However, you do have discretion, and 14 I implore you to use that discretion to keep 15 the sentence as short as possible.

16 Please find it in your heart to impose 17 only concurrent sentences. Please allow 18 Christopher the opportunity to attain freedom
19 in my lifetime. I believe him to be innocent 20 with all my heart. Please give him a chance to 21 use his talents to make a significant 22 contribution to society. Please give him the 23 chance to be home with me in his lifetime, in 24 my lifetime. Thank you, Judge.

(David Mayo, Official Court Reporter)

1 THE COURT: Thank you, Mrs. Porco. Mr.
2 McDermott, sir?

3 MR. McDERMOTT: Yes, your Honor.

4 THE COURT: You may address the Court at 5 this time.

6 MR. McDERMOTT: Thank you, your Honor.
7 Your Honor, a jury of 12 people found beyond a
8 reasonable doubt that Christopher Porco
9 intentionally caused the death of his father, 10 Peter, and attempted to cause the death of his 11 mother, Joan.

12 The proof before this Court was that the 13 crime was premediated, that it was calculated,
14 and that it was cold blooded and vicious.

15 The defendant herein has accepted no
16 responsibility. He has shown no remorse. And 17 despite the eloquent plea of his mother for 18 leniency, the People would ask that this Court
19 impose upon this defendant the maximum sentence 20 allowable under the law.

21 THE COURT: Mr. Kindlon?

22 MR. KINDLON: Yes, sir. May it please the 23 Court. The speakers who preceded me have 24 spoken so eloquently of the terrible tragedy

1 that has befallen this family. And as Miss
2 Szostak said, this family has been devastated
3 by unspeakable grief.

4 There are victims everywhere of this 5 crime, your Honor, just everywhere. But the 6 most significant, the most important thing for 7 this Court to recognize is despite the verdict
8 of the jury in this case our client, 9 Christopher Porco, is simply not guilty of the 10 crime for which he has been convicted.

11 We have submitted a fairly extensive
12 presentence memorandum, your Honor. I will not 13 repeat the information contained therein.

14 THE COURT: I have read it in its 15 entirety.

16 MR. KINDLON: And I know that it will 17 become part of the record in this case.
18 Consequently, I will not repeat the information
19 that's contained therein.

20 As the Court is aware, my client has no 21 prior criminal history. And taking into 22 account the factors which are set forth in the 23 Criminal Procedure Law, Section 390.30 and 24 390.40, given the plea from his mother, I would

1 respectfully request that this Court temper
2 justice with mercy and impose the minimum
3 possible sentence under the circumstances.

4 Your Honor, I repeat. My client is 5 innocent. He did not commit this terrible
6 crime. And Joan Porco, the person who knows
7 him best in this world, has indicated to you
8 that on the basis of her lifetime of knowledge
9 he is not and could not be guilty. She knows 10 he is innocent. As she said so eloquently,
11 your Honor, she knows with every ounce of her 12 being that Christopher could not have committed 13 these violent acts. Thank you very much.

14 THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Kindlon.
15 Christopher Porco, the law requires that I
16 afford you an opportunity to address the Court.
17 You need not say anything. I have read a 18 letter you submitted to me. However, if there 19 is something that you would like to say at this 20 time or place on the record, you may.

21 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, your Honor. Judge
22 Berry, I will be the first to admit that I made 23 some mistakes in my life and I have certainly 24 done things that I am not proud of. I was not

1 always honest with my friends and family. And 2 my desire for people to view me in a positive 3 light at times overcame who I actually was.

4 A minor dispute between my father and me
5 was taken completely out of context and then 6 multiplied by the police and the prosecution
7 because they needed to invent a reason why a 8 person who has never been violent his entire 9 life would randomly decide one day to partake 10 in unspeakable destruction of life.

11 If my desire to absolve my parents the 12 financial burden of college was my only 13 intention, I only wish that I had been more 14 upfront with my mom and dad about it.

15 My family has done nothing but cooperate
16 in an attempt to help the police and the DA's
17 Office for the past two years. I have freely 18 given DNA, fingerprints, clothing, and hours of 19 my time in an attempt to aid the authorities.
20 All that we have received in return is contempt 21 and a complete lack of interest to any 22 information that did not fit the theory that 23 the police created minutes after this case
24 began.

1 Unbridled media leaks by the police and 2 the DA's Office has been a direct attempt to 3 paint me as an evil person and my family as 4 dysfunctional. These lies perpetuate to this 5 day and what saddens me is the public still 6 does not know much about this case that I feel 7 resembles the truth.

8 Ultimately, I have faith in the system
9 that my father held so dear, and I am confident 10 that with time wrongs will be righted. But I
11 hold no illusions that there will ever be true 12 justice for my mom and my dad or my family as a 13 whole. Any possible chance the police had of 14 catching the true perpetrators evaporated long 15 ago.

16 Crimes are not solved by plucking a motive
17 out of a cloud of conjecture and half-truths
18 and attempting to shape pieces of the puzzle so 19 they all fit together. By caving in to public 20 pressure to hold the most convenient suspect 21 responsible, the police deprived all of us the 22 justice we are entitled to.

23 My father was taken from all of our lives, 24 but the man he was and the legacy he left will

1 always be with those who were touched by his 2 life.

3 I miss my dad so much and my heart aches
4 for my mom, who is the strongest person that I
5 will ever know. Despite her horrible treatment 6 by the authorities, despite all of her physical 7 and emotional anguish that she has suffered
8 over the past two years, she has kept an aura
9 of love and contentment that has helped me 10 carry on day to day.

11 My mother has been cast as naive and 12 irrelevant by the police, but she knows her 13 family above all else. Only because she told 14 the truth did the police ignore and discount
15 her words. I worry about her constantly, but I 16 am confident that she will be okay living 17 without her sons and husband nearby day by day.
18 My only wish is to join her soon.

19 I was never able to say goodbye to my dad 20 before he was taken from us. The idea that he 21 was disappointed in me before he died will 22 always haunt me. We can never know when our 23 time is going to come, but I know that my dad
24 is with all of us now. And even though I can't

1 hug him and tell him face to face, he knows
2 that I love him.

3 The pain and the anger that I feel over 4 what has happened to my parents is only 5 surpassed by the love that I have for both of 6 them. I cannot fathom hurting any person, let 7 alone my parents, in this way. And for me it 8 is enough that every person important in my 9 life knows that. Thanks.

10 THE COURT: You're welcome. Christopher 11 Porco, you are a very intelligent young man.
12 You come from two wonderful parents. Your 13 brother is a credit to our society. You come 14 from a very close-knit family. I look at that 15 family now and I see it torn apart in many 16 ways.

17 The jury has spoken in this case. They 18 have rendered a verdict which, by my decision 19 on the 330 motion submitted by your attorneys, 20 I am not going to set that verdict aside.

21 I feel that you were provided with a very 22 fair trial. Numerous evidentiary rulings were 23 made by this Court to avoid what your attorney, 24 Mr. Kindlon, stated in his opening statement

1 was to smear you and smear you and smear you so 2 the jury would be swayed by those smears, about 3 all the things that you have done that I kept 4 out of the case; burglaries, possession of 5 stolen property, selling stolen property on the 6 Internet, forging documents. Many, many 7 different acts like that.

8 While your attorney is correct that you
9 have no prior convictions, you surely had a lot
10 of illegal acts that you participated in that I 11 prevented this jury from finding out because I 12 felt that that would cause you not to have a 13 fair trial.

14 Some items had to come in to fulfill the 15 entire scenario of the People's position and 16 their case in this matter. And those items 17 that did come into this trial, those 18 evidentiary rulings that I made that permitted
19 those items to be brought before the jury
20 proved to be what I felt was a powerful 21 circumstantial evidence case. It led the 22 jurors to the conclusion that you committed 23 these, the violent, cold, barbaric,
24 premeditated, terrible acts, the worst acts

1 that a child could ever perform or do to their 2 parents.

3 They found you guilty of Murder in the 4 Second Degree as to the brutal murder of your 5 father and Attempted Murder in the Second 6 Degree as to the terrible act that was done to 7 your mother.

8 Christopher Porco, as a child I loved my 9 parents. And most everybody does love their 10 parents. And that's the way it's supposed to 11 be. And your mother, to her credit, is a 12 loving, strong woman. You're right. She could 13 be the most powerful, strong woman you have 14 ever met in your life. Maybe person. Let's 15 not make it a sexist thing. Person. She has 16 undergone so much in this matter. And now she 17 grasps very, very tightly to you.

18 It is without a doubt she has no memory of 19 the events which occurred in the early morning 20 hours of November 2004. It's very 21 understandable that she is upset with the 22 system. It is very understandable to me that 23 she feels that the police didn't do enough.
24 That's because it would be the most difficult

1 thing in the world for a parent to believe, 2 that their child, who she gave birth to and 3 raised, took care of, would be capable of being 4 the perpetrator of these violent, heinous acts.

5 My job here today is to impose sentence 6 upon you. It is not an easy job. It is 7 something that I have thought over for a 8 substantial period of time. Since the jury 9 rendered their verdict, I have read a number of 10 letters in your favor and letters that weren't 11 so much in your favor. I have listened to 12 everybody today. And now sentence must be 13 pronounced.

14 When I sentence you today I just want you
15 to understand that all sentences that I impose, 16 I never permit myself to get angry or upset or 17 things like that because, quite obviously, if I 18 did that then I would be abdicating my job to 19 be a fair and impartial jurist.

20 However, in sentencing you today I've got 21 to explain to you and make you understand that 22 the sentence that's being imposed upon you is a 23 sentence because I fear very much that what 24 happened in the early morning hours of November

1 of 2004 is something that could happen again.
2 And because of that, I would be abdicating my 3 role and responsibility as a Judge of this 4 State court system in permitting someone that 5 could do such a vicious, terrible act to the 6 persons that that person should have loved, 7 should have sacrificed themselves for, because 8 they did that for you.

9 Instead, these acts were perpetrated upon 10 innocent, kind, loving persons who were public 11 servants, people who dedicated themselves.
12 Instead of private enterprise and making tons 13 of money, your parents wanted to educate 14 people, take care of people, help them. And 15 they did such a great, great job of doing that.

16 As to the first count, which charges you
17 with the crime of Murder in the Second Degree, 18 which the jury found you guilty, it will be the 19 judgment and the sentence of the Court that you 20 will be committed to the custody and to the 21 care of the Department of Corrections of the 22 State of New York to serve a determinate period 23 of incarceration, that the maximum period will 24 be life in State's prison and the minimum

1 period will be 25 years.

2 As to the second count of this indictment,
3 the crime of Attempted Murder in the Second 4 Degree as a Class B violent felony, it will be 5 the judgment and the sentence of the Court that 6 you will be committed to the custody and to the 7 care of the Department of Corrections of the 8 State of New York, to serve a determinate 9 period of incarceration of 25 years. That 10 sentence will run consecutive to the sentence
11 previously imposed upon you on the first count 12 of the indictment.

13 You must also serve five years of 14 postrelease supervision.

15 In addition to that, you must pay a crime
16 victim fee and surcharge which will be imposed 17 upon you and taken from your commissary funds
18 while so incarcerated in State's prison.

19 You have an opportunity in State's prison 20 to rehabilitate yourself. You have an 21 opportunity in State's prison to do positive 22 things.

23 Many years ago I participated in a program
24 that we established at Green Haven Prison. It

1 was called, "Isn't it about time you took 2 responsibility for the harm that you did to 3 others?" It was a program that we instituted 4 for people who were lifers, people who had done
5 terrible things; murdered people, robbed 6 people. We permitted them to start to speak to 7 crime victims and to look at their own lives
8 and see just what they did to other people. It 9 was a positive program.

10 Whatever State's prison you are taken to,
11 if there is a program like that there, I 12 strongly suggest that you participate in that 13 program and help other people understand and to 14 help you understand the gravity of the actions 15 which this jury found you guilty of.

16 The above constitutes the judgment and the 17 sentence of the Court. These proceedings are 18 hereby concluded.

19 (There was a discussion off the record.)

20 A MEDIA MEMBER: Can we have access to the 21 tapes now?

22 THE COURT: On the record. Yes.

23 (The proceedings in the above-entitled 24 matter were concluded.)
